

Winter Wildlife Photography

This winter wildlife photography course is an introduction to the skills needed to create an environmental portrait - an image that tells a story of the subject, what is happening at the moment, and a story of the environment around the animal or even the plant being photographed. We will spend a short time in the classroom becoming more familiar with cameras and techniques used by photographers. Then we will venture out into the field – learning how to observe wildlife and the landscape in order to capture those breathtaking shots! We will return to the classroom to briefly explore polishing our work with Photoshop.

Date: Saturday, January 14

Time: 9 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Ages: 14 and over
